The Wayland Free Library is chartered and supported by the people of the Wayland Area (Cohocton, Springwater, Perkinsville, Atlanta, etc.). Any legal resident or property taxpayer is entitled to a borrower's card. Any legal borrower's card from a Southern Tier System Library is acceptable and resources can be borrowed subject to the rules of the Wayland Free Library.

The primary role of the Library is to provide a popular materials collection and information resources, as well as to provide a doorway to learning for all children, and especially pre-schoolers.

The Wayland Free Library adheres to the American Library Association's "Freedom to Read" Policy and attempts to meet the special needs of any patron as enumerated by the Americans with Disabilities Act or any relevant Federal or New York State Law.

New York State Law protects the privacy of Library borrower's registration and use information from unauthorized publication or investigation.
